

Commanding Officer's Environmental Policy Statement

It is the policy of Combat Logistics Regiment 37, 3d Marine Logistics Group and Camp Kinser to protect present and future military mission readiness and capabilities through effective and efficient environmental management.

Our environmental policy is committed to:

- Compliance with all environmental legislation, regulations, and policy to include Japanese Environmental Governing Standards;
- Compliance with Marine Corps Base Camp Smedley D. Butler fiscal year objectives and targets;
- Partnering with other federal and local resource agencies to share successes and lessons learned to maximize the return on Marine Corps investment in environmental compliance and conservation;
- Implement and improve environmental management systems that enhance the capability of Camp Kinser to support unit and tenant training and minimize risks to both mission and the environment;
- Integrating pollution prevention principles into management practices;
- Conserving both our natural and cultural resources as vital Marine Corps assets;
- Reviewing all proposed activities for potential environmental impact;
- Minimizing our impact on the environment through environmental quality inspections, environmental education, recycling, and management of hazardous materials;
- Communicate the environmental policy to the unit and installation personnel.

Combat Logistics Regiment 37 and Camp Kinser are committed to environmental protection, regulatory compliance, recycling, continual environmental improvement, and pollution prevention.

O. J. RANDALL
Colonel, U.S. Marine Corps
Commanding Officer